

Leads On Vaughan Activity

Mundt Tries to Link Trip to Paris With Perfume Company

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—(P)—Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today that Senate five percenter investigators are getting information about the activities of Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan "from sources very close to the president."

McCarthy said the data also is coming from persons very close "to Vaughan in the White House." Vaughan is President Truman's army aide.

McCarthy is member of the special Senate subcommittee checking on whether improper influence has figured in the handling of government business.

Vaughan's name has bobbed up almost every day at the inquiry.

Senator Mundt (R-S.D.), another committee member, is seeking to link a flying trip to Paris in 1945 by three agents of a Chicago perfume firm with that company's gifts of home freezers to Vaughan.

McCarthy declined to elaborate on his statement to newsmen about the reported source of some of the committee's information on the general.

He said only: "We are getting leads and information on Vaughan's activities from sources very close to the president and to Vaughan in the White House."

Some Line on Gifts
Mundt told reporters that the testimony given the Senate investigations committee secretly Monday, and made public yesterday "begins to disclose a suspicion of a motive of what is behind the gifts of deep freezers."

He referred to freezers paid for by the Albert H. Verley Perfume Company which were sent to Mrs. Harry S. Truman, General Vaughan and four other administration officials during the summer of 1945 and the winter of 1945-46.

Three representatives of the Verley company made the Paris trip on an army transport plane in July, 1945 at a time, Mundt said, "when businessmen just couldn't get there."

Mundt is a member of the committee which is looking into the activities of "five percenters"—individuals who search out government contracts for others at a fee, usually five percent.

Two of the central figures in the inquiry are Vaughan, President Truman's military aide, and John Maragon, Washington man-about-town who used to have free access to the White House.

New Spotlight
The testimony released by the committee yesterday, after President Truman had accused it of withholding testimony "favorable" to Vaughan while producing the unfavorable parts at public hearings, threw a new spotlight on the two men.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross was asked at a news conference today if he had any comment on the release of the heretofore secret testimony.

"None whatever," Ross said. Ross was asked if Mr. Truman, when he spoke out at his news conference yesterday, had in mind the testimony made public later in the day.

Ross said he did not know what the president had in mind.

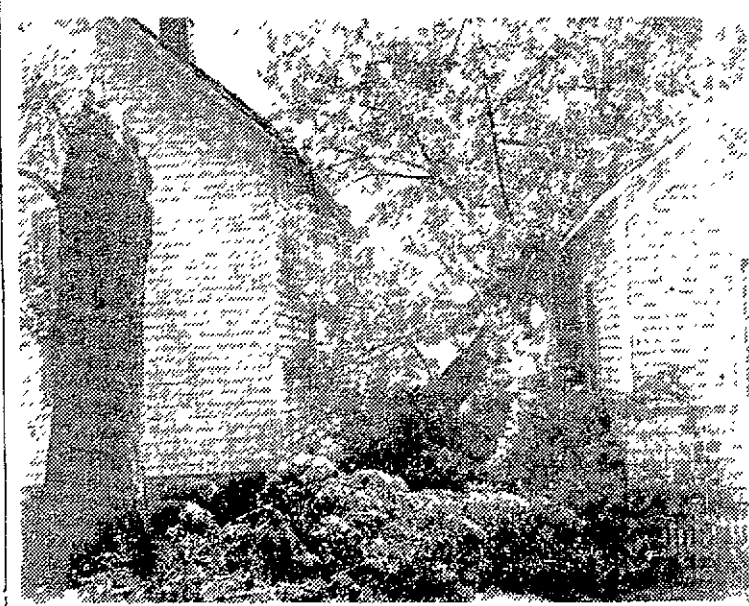

Both Vaughan and Maragon are to appear before the committee personally sometime after it resumes its hearings next Tuesday.

Testimony by Harry Hoffman, Milwaukee advertising man who handles the Verley account, named Maragon as the man who arranged for the army transport to carry Hoffman, Maragon and Emmet King, New York attorney, to Paris on Verley business.

The records show that Mundt commented that "someone had to exert a colossal amount of influence in high circles" to wrangle such a trip. He noted that it was turned for "entry into Paris almost on the heels" of liberating troops.

The record further showed that William P. Rogers, committee counsel, said Maragon tried to bring back from the trip some perfume essence disguised as four bottles of champagne.

Tree Down on House

During the windstorm early today a large tree was snapped off and toppled on the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Russell, 521 South Engineer, wrecking fireplace flue and doing other damage.

Wind Damage To Trees in Parts of City

One Tree Crashes On Home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Russell

A strong northwesterly wind, accompanied by thunder and lightning and 1.56 inches of rainfall, played havoc with a number of trees in the east section of Sedalia this morning between 2 and 4 a. m.

A large tree in the front yard of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Rhodes of 515 South Engineer avenue, split at the trunk and fell southward, jarring two homes. The tree landed on the roof of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Russell's home, next door residents and damaged the roof and scattered bricks from an outside fireplace chimney. When the tree fell it ripped off the southwest corner of the Rhodes' home.

Broke Light Wires

At 911 West Fifth street, a tree fell, but did no damage. One of the larger trees in the Washington park split from the trunk and as it fell, broke park light wires. This morning nearly all the wires were on the ground.

Plate glass was broken at the E. W. Thompson Motor company, 400 South Osage avenue. Across the street, five steel posts, supporting a large sign for the used car lot were bent, causing the sign to lean southward.

Lightning flashed during the strong windstorm and some lightning circuits were out for a time. In the country the wind and rain caused some of the tall corn now starting its ripening period to be blown over but it was not damaged to any great extent.

Drowns After Other Hard Luck

GROVE, Okla., Aug. 19.—(P)—Death by drowning in Grand Lake yesterday climaxed a recent streak of hard luck for Ray B. Cartwright, 33, of Webb City, Mo.

Cartwright, a truck driver, apparently drowned after leaping in panic from his burning boat. Life preservers were still in the boat. He had been fishing alone near mid-lake.

Lake Patrolman Bill Burger theorized Cartwright was filling the outboard motor with gasoline when the fuel ignited and spilled. The interior of the boat was charred. The body was found shortly afterwards.

The day before, Cartwright fell down a flight of stairs in Joplin, Mo., and was hospitalized. Upon regaining consciousness, he reported the loss of $760 in cash from his pockets. Police later found envelopes which had contained the money, but all were empty.

Cartwright was married and the father of four children.

U. S. Consulate At Canton Closed

CANTON, Aug. 19.—(P)—The American consulate general was closed officially here late today.

The plane flights to Hong Kong removed all but a few of the personnel. A handful remained to wind up the consulate general's business.

U. S. Charge D' Affaires Lewis Clark will fly to Hong Kong tomorrow. He will commute daily to Canton until the Nationalist government moves.

Consul General Karl Rankin will go to Hong Kong on Monday with the last of the American officials.

The United States information service, which moved only last week to the Yokohama specie bank building on Shemen Island, was boarded up.

Evacuations also reduced American and British business communities almost to that group which will remain in Canton, come what may.

Despite repeated official warnings to leave, it appeared well over half the non-official Americans in the Canton consular district would stay.

Fire Home and Kill Negro

Bullets of Officers Riddle Him in a Long Gun Battle

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—(P)—A barricaded Negro stood off 125 policemen in a three-hour gun battle last night before they set fire to his home, then riddled him with bullets as he attempted to escape.

He was wanted for shooting a child.

All during the battle, the besieged Negro, Ernest Craig, 28, continued firing from windows with two revolvers and a rifle. Police poured hundreds of bullets and tossed about 200 tear gas bombs into the two-story frame house before they applied the torch.

As the flames spread throughout the first floor and started into the upper story, Craig went out a second-story window and slid to the ground in an 18-inch passageway between his corner home and the neighboring house.

Officers spotted him as he crawled along the narrow opening toward the front of the building. A policeman shouted a warning and Craig fired at him but missed.

Used Machine Guns

Two detectives returned the fire from chattering machine guns. The Negro's body convulsed as shot after shot struck him. He continued firing until two other policemen moved in and emptied their revolvers into his quivering body.

Examination later showed Craig had been struck by at least 18 machine gun and pistol bullets and several shotgun pellets.

A first attempt to force Craig out of the building by fire failed. The officers tossed flares into the front of the building and as the blaze began to spread a detail of policemen moved into the building. They were forced back by bullets from Craig's guns. Firemen doused the blaze and more gas bombs were thrown in, but Craig stubbornly continued the fight and taunted police to "come in and get me."

The second fire was started about a half hour later and it was allowed to destroy the house.

Two policemen were wounded in the exchange of bullets. Detective Marshall Pidgeon, 51, was shot twice in the back and once in an ear. Detective Lloyd Neborgall, 48, was wounded in the forehead. Their wounds were described as not critical. Three other officers suffered minor bullet wounds.

The gun battle started after Craig had accidentally wounded two-year-old Drake Atkins in a wild frenzy of two-gun shooting

Tight Curbs Put on Radio Prize Program

Where Lottery is Evident it May Be Suppressed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—(P)—The Federal Communications Commission today announced sharp curbs on radio prize programs.

The commission said that, effective Oct. 1, it will invoke new rules under which it will refuse licenses or renewal of licenses to broadcasters "following a policy or practice" of advertising lotteries or "offering prizes dependent in whole or in part upon lot or chance."

The action, regarded as reaching many cash and merchandise give-away programs now on the air, grows out of an investigation in progress for more than a year.

The proposed regulation was fought vigorously by most of the radio industry, on grounds that the FCC lacks authority to censor program content.

Power to Forbid

The commission's reply was that it is empowered to forbid the use of the air for promoting a lottery.

The commission said in today's order, covering Standard, FM and Television stations, that whether a given program violates the lottery section of the communications act "depends on the facts in each case."

However, it asserted that "will in any event," consider a program to violate the act if a prize "of money or thing of value is awarded to any person whose election is dependent in whole or in part upon lot or chance," and if as a condition to winning or competing:

1. The winner furnishes money or other thing of value or is required to have in his possession a product of the program sponsor.
2. The winner is required to be listening to or viewing the program in question.
3. The winner must correctly answer a question, the answer to which has been given on the program "or where aid to answering the question correctly is given" on the program either on the spot or through a previous broadcast.
4. The winner must answer the phone in a prescribed manner or with a prescribed phrase, or is required to write a letter in a prescribed manner or containing a prescribed phrase "if the prescribed manner of answering the phone or writing the letter has been broadcast over the station in question."

Commissioner Frieda Hennock dissented to the proposed regulations.

Former King Carol And Mme. Lupescu Married

LISBON, Portugal, Aug. 19.—(P)—Former King Carol of Romania and Mme. Elena Lupescu were married in a religious ceremony last night at the ex-monarch's Estoril residence.

The Rev. Martinian Ivinovitch, head of the Romanian (Greek Orthodox) church in Paris, came here to officiate at the ceremony. Carol and Elena whose romance flourished more than two decades despite family objections and political upheavals were married in Rio de Janeiro in an "extremist" civil ceremony in July, 1947, when Elena was believed at the point of death.

Under Brazilian law a dying person may, in the presence of six witnesses designate the person she wishes to marry and, if no legal obstacles intervene, the wish may be fulfilled by a Brazilian marriage court.

The Brazilian ceremony was attended by the necessary witnesses and public officials to make it legal under the civil law that permits marriage "in extremis."

"Uncrowned Queen"

Elena's influence during Carol's reign as king of Romania had been so great she had been

All is in Readiness For Opening of State Fair

For picturesque beauty, the Forty-seventh Annual Exposition of the Missouri State Fair, August 21-28 is expected to exceed all other fairs here. The flower beds, grass and trees are green this year and the fair in general is cleaner and in better shape than ever before.

Roy S. Kemper, secretary of the fair, related that it looked as if the fair was open. He said there is more activity going on at this time, than any pre-opening year, he knew about.

Hog, cattle and mule entries have reached an all time peak. Entries are so great, that tents have been erected to handle all the livestock, which continues to arrive at the fair, mostly at night, escaping the heat during the day.

Races Be Attractive

A total of $97,500 in purse money will be presented to the winners in the Grand Circuit harness races, held for five days, Monday through Friday. Grand Circuit racing will be presented for its first time in Sedalia. A total of 303 entries are in this event.

A two-story judges stand has been erected in front of the grand stand, an da new inside fence was constructed around the mile track. Racing officials said the heavy rainfall this morning improved the track for both horse and auto racing. They claimed the rain

Neighbor is Held in Slaying

HARRIS, Mo., Aug. 19.—(P)—Fred E. Butcher, 62, was shot to death while working in his yard here yesterday and authorities are holding a man in jail at Milan, Mo., in connection with the shooting.

Sheriff Artis Franklin said a neighbor of the slain man, J. B. Collings, 31, is being held in the Sullivan county jail, where charges have been filed.

Sgt. F. H. Wood of the State Highway Patrol said Mrs. Irene Collings, 24, and John Michael, wife and grandfather of Collings, had taken refuge in the cellar of the Butcher home before the shooting.

Sergeant Wood said Collings telephoned the victim's wife, Mrs. Susan Butcher, and notified her that her husband had been shot. Mrs. Butcher was on duty at the Harris telephone office, where she is an operator, when Collings called.

There were no witnesses to the shooting.

Heavy Damage Caused by Storm

RUSHVILLE, Mo., Aug. 19.—(P)—A hail storm struck the Armour station and Sugar Lake area south of here late yesterday, causing heavy damage to tobacco and corn crops.

The hail stones measured up to two inches in diameter.

A five-acre tobacco crop on the Dave Paris farm near Sugar Lake was wiped out. Other farmers in the vicinity reported severe damage to tobacco and corn.

Rain measuring .93 inch and strong winds accompanied the hail.

Part of Jack Stanton's large tobacco barn near Armour Station was unroofed. The barn was filled with tobacco, which was damaged.

Court House Closing Hours During Fair

In accordance with the customs of previous years, the offices in the court house will be closed all day Tuesday and Thursday and each afternoon during fair week, except those offices which are required to remain open by the new constitution.

packed the track and made it faster for racing.

This year an all time record is anticipated on the race track. The fastest pacing record ever recorded at the fair was made by a horse named Zenith in 1938, when it rounded the mile track in 2:04.

The Johnny J. Jones Exposition is celebrating its fiftieth year, and it comes to Sedalia for the first time in 28 years. The carnival arrived Tuesday evening on 35 cars, coming here from Fort Wayne, Ind. Along with various game and skill stands, it features 22 amusement rides and 13 side-shows.

Highway Gardens

A must see is the Missouri Highway Gardens, because it is one of the most beautiful exhibits at the fair. Remember to visit it. People will leave the fair talking about it.

Sportsmen will enjoy the Conservation Commission this year. In addition to all Missouri wildlife, a casting range, fly typing booth, archery booth, crow exhibit a show mobile unit of conservation and a rainfall exhibit will be located there.

Not only the fairgrounds is getting ready for the biggest annual event in Sedalia, but the city, too. It is being dressed up for this occasion with flags flying in the downtown section, and "Welcome Fair Visitors" signs appearing in the store windows.

Cut Deeper on Rent Controls

Lop-off on the Housing Staff of Thousands Looms

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—(P)—Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods today predicted a further cutback in rent controls.

He said his agency may be forced to curtail activities in many parts of the nation—this in addition to lifting ceilings completely in one-third of the areas now controlled by federal regulations.

Just what form additional reductions in rent control would take, Woods could not immediately say. He declared, however, that more cutbacks of some nature are almost certain to come.

"The slash in our budget makes it necessary to lop off the housing staff from 3,600 to 3,000 persons," Woods told a reporter. "And that means we just won't have manpower to do the job—So we'll have to cut the work load."

Already announced plans to abolish ceilings across one-third of the country, meantime, were creating a stir of reaction and confusion.

Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) said he hoped today to bring to the Senate floor a resolution to reconsider a House-Senate conference bill which okayed the cut in the housing agency's funds to $17,500,000 contrasted with $26,750,000 asked by the Budget Bureau to finance rent control operations.

Ask Clarifying

Housing authorities said they have been "flooded with a constant stream" of long distance phone calls and telegrams asking clarification and protesting the proposal to drop restrictions in many parts of the country where controls still are on.

Woods attempted to explain preliminary details of the new policy following a day-long session with his top lieutenants which lasted far into the night.

It is still impossible, he said, to determine what areas will be decontrolled. Such information won't be ready for at least another week. It is expected, he went on, that ceilings will be dropped first in so-called "borderline" areas where sufficient rental housing appears to exist or will soon be available.

Will the bulk of the decontrols come in small towns or metropolitan areas?

Woods said he is sticking by his original statement that controls will not be dropped in any community of more than 100,000 population—which will rule out large cities and heavily-populated counties. Areas where big military installations are located also will remain under federal regulations, Woods stated.

Boy Burned on Leg at Trash Fire

A little six year old boy, Ronald Dunham, son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Dunham, Houstonia, route 2, wanted to see the trash fire someone at his home had built burn a little brighter late Thursday afternoon, so he did something about it. He threw a can of gasoline on the fire. The flames from the explosive caught the child on fire and he was severely burned on the left leg. He was brought to the Bothwell hospital, where he is still a patient.

House In Slash On Aid Bill

Supporters Look To The Senate To Accord Better Treatment

By William F. Arbogast

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—(P)—Battered by the House, the administration's foreign arms aid program looked to the Senate today for gentler treatment.

The program was slashed and hedged in with restrictions before the House passed it last night by a vote of 238 to 122.

It marked a bad beating for President Truman's congressional forces.

Despite their entreaties, a 50 percent cut was imposed on the $1,160,990,000 earmarked to help western European nations resist possible Soviet aggression. Congress could decide to appropriate the rest of the funds next year.

On top of that, the House decreed that at least half of the supplies sent abroad must be carried in ships flying the American flag. The lawmakers also tightened up a prohibition against using United States troops for other than non-combatant duty in connection with the program.

Full Sum to Greece-Turkey

But the House granted the full $211,370,000 the president wanted for aid to Greece, and Turkey, and the $27,540,000 he asked for Iran, Korea and the Philippines and it beat back amendments to:

- (1) Add $100,000,000 for China and other southeastern Asia areas,
- (2) Charge the western European allotment against the current U. S. military appropriation, (3) withhold funds from Britain as long as Ireland remains partitioned, (4) Ban the use of U. S. troops for any purpose under the program, and (5) Require the president to channel production into areas suffering from acute unemployment problems.

Defeat of those amendments was a shallow victory for the administration, whose House leaders had predicted confidently that they could slave off any cut in western European funds.

"What they failed to figure on were the absentees and the defections from northern Democratic ranks, which usually line up solidly for anything the president wants."

The roll-call count on the amendment of Rep. Richards (D-S.C.) to halve the western European fund found 35 members not accounted for. And among the 71 Democrats who supported the amendment were many northern members who normally are found in administration ranks.

The theory behind the Richards amendment is that additional funds can be provided next year if benefitting nations demonstrate by then that they are going to work together for mutual defense.

I'D LEND YOU SOME DOLLARS, BUT MONEY DON'T MEAN ANY MORE TO EGBERT THAN PAPER TOWELS!

HOW ABOUT COAXING THE GOAT TO FOLLOW YOU HOME, WITH AN ACCIDENTAL ASSIST FROM A ROPE? WAIT! THAT'S OUT! I FORGOT EGBERT CAN SHOOT THE PAPRIKA OFF A BAKED POTATO AT HALF A MILE!

Of States Righters At Election Of National Chairman

By Jack Bell
 WASHINGTON, Aug. 19—(P)—A pledge of future party loyalty may be asked of any southern States Righters who show up to vote on the choice of a new Democratic national chairman.

This formula for dealing with committee members who joined in the civil rights rebellion last year was laid down by a high Democratic official as President Truman implied that the decision not to invite some southern members has his full backing.

The national committee meets next Wednesday for a the scheduled election of William M. Boyle, Jr., now a $30,000-a-year executive director, to succeed Senator J. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island as chairman.

McGrath, unanimously confirmed by the Senate today to succeed Attorney General Tom C. Clark, now draws no committee pay.

States Righters Not Invited

In his call for the committee meeting, McGrath said he hadn't invited members of the national committee who strayed off the reservation last fall in support of the Thurmond - Wright States Rights ticket.

When reporters asked the President about this at his regular news conference, the President replied that the committee is in control of its own membership.

With a significant look at newsmen, Mr. Truman said the committee is made up of Democrats.

McGrath didn't send invitations to some of the committeemen and committeewomen in four states where the states righters have controlled the party organization—Mississippi, Louisiana, South Carolina and Alabama.

Committeemen Chosen

However, South Carolina Democrats today chose Senator Maybank (D-SC) as national committeeman to succeed Gov. J. Strom Thurmond, who headed the States Rights ticket. Maybank accepted and there was no doubt that he would be welcomed by the national committee as a member.

If any of the States Righters show up at next Wednesday's meeting, and demand to be seated, they first will have to talk their way past a credentials committee headed by Frank McHale, national committeeman from Indiana.

A Democratic official who declined to be quoted by name said the final decision on their seating probably will rest on whether they are willing to pledge themselves to go down the line for the Democratic ticket in future elections.

Population May Top 150,000,000 In 1949

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19—(P)—The population of the United States probably will rise above 150,000,000 before 1949 is out.

Its rapid approach to that impressive figure was noted by acting census director, Philip M. Hauser in a report showing that:

1. The population was estimated at 149,215,000 on July 1, including some 500,000 in the armed forces overseas.
2. Its growth throughout this year has closely approximated 200,000 a month, indicating the 150,000,000 mark will be reached by November 1.

Reveal Secret Hearing

Possible Smuggling Done By Maragon; Contradictions In Freezer Testimony

By Arthur Edson

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—(AP)—The perfume company which paid for Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan's deep freezers got permission to fly John Maragon to Europe in 1945, a time when travel was difficult for a business man.

And on his return trip, said William P. Rogers, counsel for the Senate investigations subcommittee, Maragon tried to bring in perfume essence disguised as "four bottles of champagne."

"It looks to me on the surface," said Rogers, "as though they caught Maragon red-handed smuggling the stuff in, and there was no prosecution."

These allegations were made public late today, when senators, smarting under a comment by President Truman that they had been unfair to Vaughan, released testimony they had heard Monday.

Asked To Suspend Judgment

Mr. Truman had called on the public to suspend judgment on Vaughan, his military aide and a friend of 31 years standing, until the general had a chance to tell his side of the story.

The President also had said that the committee had withheld testimony favorable to Vaughan. This brought a denial from Chairman Hoyer (D-NC) and a decision by his group to release the testimony.

The testimony showed that Maragon—a former Kansas City bootblack and a longtime friend of Vaughan's—had two associates made the trip on a military transport plane.

Harry Hoffman, a Milwaukee advertising man who went along, said that Maragon made the arrangements for the trip.

Bennett Gave Freezer
Hoffman said his agency handles the advertising account of the Albert J. Verley Perfume Company, Chicago. Its president is David Bennett.

Vaughan, in a statement last Saturday, said that the seven freezers had been given him by "two old friends of mine—Mr. Harry Hoffman and Mr. David Bennett."

This was in 1945, he said. Hoffman had told him, Vaughan said, that the freezers were experimental models, and had no commercial value. Vaughan kept one of the freezers, and had the others sent to friends, including high officials. One wound up in the "Little White House" in Independence, Mo.

Testimony Highlights

Other highlights of the secret testimony:

1. Hoffman said that last Sunday, the day before he testified before the committee, he visited Vaughan at the White House.

In reply to a question from Senator McCarthy (R-Wis), Hoffman said:

"I dropped in at the White House yesterday afternoon. Was with General Vaughan for about an hour. Yes, Sir."

"Was he at all interested in what you were going to testify today?"

"Obviously," said Hoffman.

2. Vaughan had said that Hoffman had told him that the freezers were factory rejects, but Albert J. Gross, Milwaukee manufacturer who assembled them, told the subcommittee:

"We had no such animal."

Rogers asked Hoffman:

"There was never any discussion."

Mitchell Rites Held In Atlanta

ATLANTA, Aug. 18—(AP)—Margaret Mitchell was buried today on a hill near graves of Confederate soldiers with the skyline of Atlanta in the distance.

En route to Oakland cemetery the hearse carried the body of the author of "Gone With the Wind" across Peachtree Street, just a few blocks from the spot where she was struck by a speeding automobile last Thursday.

People along the sidewalks paused, gazed, and stood in a token of last salute. Some women on front porches cried openly. Many persons stood in the street outside the funeral chapel during the brief Episcopal rites. Around 300 persons were gathered inside.

Hugh D. Gravitt, the man accused of killing Miss Mitchell, is held without bond on a charge of murder. The case may be presented to the grand jury tomorrow.

Confirm Tom Clark And J. H. McGrath

Approval to High Bench Comes After an Attack

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—(AP)—Attorney General Tom Clark was confirmed by the Senate today to be an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.

The vote was 73 to 8. By voice vote, the Senate then unanimously confirmed without objection the nomination of Senator J. Howard McGrath (D-R.I.) to succeed Clark as attorney general.

McGrath's successor in the Senate will be named by Democratic Governor John O. Pastore of Rhode Island.

McGrath, who also is Democratic National Chairman, has said he will resign that post August 24.

Republicans cast the only votes against Clark.

Those who voted "no" were: Senators Donnell and Kern of Missouri; Ferguson of Michigan; Flanders of Vermont; Taft of Ohio; Vandenberg of Michigan; Watkins of Utah and Williams of Delaware.

Approval of Clark came after a boisterous, last-minute attack on the attorney general by Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.). Among other things Ferguson accused him of "gross mismanagement" in connection with the flight of Gerhart Eisler, a top Communist, from the country.

Senator Tom Connally and Lyndon Johnson, Democrats from Clark's home state of Texas, stoutly defended the attorney general. Others also spoke in his behalf.

Report On River Basin Development

LOVELAND, Colo., Aug. 18—(AP)—William Warne, assistant secretary of the interior, said today that finding a market for Missouri basin power presents no problem.

"The problem is rather finding enough power to meet the demands of a fast-developing market," he said.

Warne addressed a luncheon meeting of the inter-agency committee of the Missouri basin project. The committee has drawn up a six-year program for the Missouri river basin and is expected to put the finishing touches on it soon. The program calls for an expenditure of 3-billion dollars during 1951-56.

Warne said he believed it might be possible to supplement river water power with power from the Lignite coal fields of the Dakotas and the gas field of Kansas.

He added:

"We've already built a number of great dams and power plants and now we're working to interconnect various power systems in the Missouri basin area."

"It is our policy to provide whatever powerlines are needed in this respect."

Missouri basin plans affect one-sixth of the entire area of the United States. The basin states include Colorado, Missouri, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Nebraska, Kansas, Wyoming, Iowa, and Montana.

After five years of planning and construction the interior department is now ready to begin marketing power from the project. Warne cited the drought of the 30's and the 1943 floods as arguments in favor of the project. He also cited "poor electrification" on farms.

Six Unity Plans Are In Bag

They Will go Into Effect at Midnight For Reorganization

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—(AP)—President Truman now has six of his first seven government reorganization plans in the bag.

The six will go into effect at midnight tomorrow. There probably will be no more reorganization action at this session of congress.

The Senate late yesterday approved the final two plans about which there was any controversy.

One, Reorganization Plan No. 2, transfers the U. S. Employment Service and the related Unemployment Insurance Service from the Federal Security Agency to the Labor Department.

The other, Reorganization Plan No. 7, transfers the Public Roads Administration, now in the General Services Administration, to the Commerce Department.

In both cases, the Senate voted down resolutions of disapproval—on No. 2 by a 57 to 32 vote, and on No. 7 by a 47 to 40. In both cases opponents would have been required to get a constitutional majority, or 49 votes, to have made the disapproval effective.

The Reorganization Act provides that a reorganization plan submitted by the president to Congress will become effective 60 days after submission, unless disapproved by either house.

One Severe Setback
The Senate Tuesday handed Mr. Truman one of his severest setbacks of the session when it disapproved his Reorganization Plan No. 1 to create a new Welfare Department combining the functions of health, education and welfare.

The four other plans, in addition to Nos. 2 and 7, assured of becoming effective are:

No. 3—Providing for reorganization of the Post Office Department at the top level.

No. 4—Transferring the National Security Council and the National Security Resources Board to the Executive Office of the President.

No. 5—Vesting administrative authority in the chairman of the Civil Service Commission.

No. 6—Vesting administration authority in the chairman of the Maritime Commission.

Chairman Tydings (D-Md.) of the Senate Armed Services committee said the president's reorganization plan for military organization, submitted after the first seven, was nullified when Congress passed its own unification bill several weeks ago.

The bill paralleled the president's plan and the recommendations of the Hoover Commission in most respects.

'So Near, Yet So Far' Says Barkley
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 18—(AP)—Vice President Alben W. Barkley today expressed "pain" at being "so near and yet so far" from St. Louis.

The remark was an obvious reference to Mrs. Carleton S. Hadley, St. Louis widow whom he entertained in his home town of Paducah, Ky., last week-end.

Barkley appeared here at a State Fair Democratic Day rally. After Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson invited him to come back to the fair again next year "because Springfield isn't so far from St. Louis," Barkley told the gathering:

"I accept the invitation but I hope that during that year you may do something about moving Springfield closer to St. Louis or St. Louis closer to Springfield."

"Those of you who have not experienced it cannot realize the pain I suffer by being so near and yet so far."

Barkley didn't bring Mrs. Hadley with him to the fair and he doesn't plan to see her before returning to Washington.

$100,000 Suit In Child Murder Case
ST. LOUIS, Aug. 18—(AP)—A St. Louis hotel was sued for $100,000 today because the body of a murdered child was permitted to remain in a dresser drawer while a Bolivian, Mo., couple occupied a room at the hotel.

The suit was brought in circuit court by Mr. and Mrs. John R. Winn against the owners of the American hotel.

The Winn's occupied the hotel room the night of Nov. 19 last, unaware that the child had been killed and left in the drawer by a previous tenant. The body was discovered by a maid Nov. 20.

Talk Given to Kiwanis on Transportation

Ray Maxwell of Missouri Pacific is Luncheon Speaker

The transportation industry of America is headed for government ownership and operation unless conflicting governmental policies regulating transportation are quickly changed, declared Ray Maxwell, Director Publicity-Advertising, Missouri Pacific Lines, speaking to the Sedalia Kiwanis club Thursday noon at Hotel Bothwell.

"We have a paradoxical transportation situation today," Maxwell said, "whereby one form of transportation—the railroads—is required to pay all its costs out of revenue, while competing forms of transportation—highway, airway and waterway—have their ways provided for them at government expense."

Declaring "we have no quarrel with the newer forms of transportation, what we object to is the commercial use they make of facilities provided at government expense," Maxwell pointed out that since 1918 the railroads have invested $27 billion of private capital in the construction and maintenance of their rights of way while almost $62 billion of taxpayer money has been spent in building and maintaining highway, airways and waterway routes. Such inequality means the railroads have two strikes on them when they come to bail," he said.

Paid $31,142 Taxes
The claim of the trucking industry that they pay their fair share of the cost of construction and maintenance of highways is open to dispute, according to Maxwell but, he asked "have they no obligation to support the other agencies of government such as police, fire and health protection, to say nothing about our schools, taxes which you gentlemen in Sedalia and the Missouri Pacific pay."

Continuing, Maxwell said, "In Pettis county last year the Missouri Pacific tax bill totaled $31,142, of which $15,965 went for the support of schools and $5574 was earmarked for county road and bridges over which our competitors operate their heavy box cars."

Discussing what he referred to as so-called "cheap" waterway transportation Maxwell said "there's nothing cheap about it except for the few shippers so favorably situated they can take advantage of the ways provided for their barges at government expense." Asserting that if another agency of transportation was needed between St. Louis and Kansas City, "which it is not, you could build a railroad for $88,000 per mile whereas it has cost $316,000 per mile to build the channel in the Missouri river."

Maxwell was also critical of the Federal Barge Line stating that it was originally established for a 5-year experimental period at cost of $14,000,000 but after 25 years of experimentation the Congress is asked to appropriate another $18,000,000 to rehabilitate it for another five year experimental period so it can be sold to private interests."

The American people recognize the principle of government aid to industry devoted to public service during its pioneering days, but hasn't the time arrived, he asked, "for the airlines to stand on their own feet, instead of being subsidized by the government through air mail payments far in excess of the cost of transporting the mail. A certificated air line can't fail to meet its operating costs because whatever deficit they sustain is made up through increased compensation in the form of payment for transporting mail," he said.

Contrast of Service
Maxwell summed up his talk with the statement that unless the railroads are permitted an equality of opportunity with government subsidized transportation the inevitable result will be government ownership and operation of all transportation, which would result in inferior service at higher costs. In substantiation of this statement he contrasted the service of privately operated railroads in World War II when they handled 97 percent of all military

Hungry Bears Coming Into Minnesota Cities For Food

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 18—(AP)—Invasions by hungry bears have started for the animal Bruin, however, climbed into the boat and the three men went over the side.

One rampaging bruin took the leading role today in a combination regatta, roping contest and slapstick comedy at Duluth.

Another bear at Virginia, described as "plenty big," invaded a home and "ate everything but the kitchen sink," and then ruined that, while a frightened mother and her two children barricaded themselves in upstairs quarters.

Bears, hungry because of a short wild berry and choke berry crop this year, have been visiting city areas the past two weeks in search of food. Many have been shot at Duluth, Two Harbors, Virginia and Hibbing.

The bear that invaded downtown Duluth was sighted near the Duluth ship canal, a short distance from the city's main thoroughfare. A crowd gathered at a safe distance. Bruin jumped into the water and started swimming.

Three men obtained a boat and started for the animal. Bruin, however, climbed into the boat and the three men went over the side.

As the last man was hurriedly leaving, the bear bade him farewell with a bite—right on the part that was uppermost at the time. The bear again took to the water and was lassoed as it neared shore. Police shot and killed it.

Not Tolerate Gambling In Any Taverns

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 18—(AP)—Gambling will not be tolerated in Missouri taverns, Covell R. Hewitt, state liquor control supervisor, announced today.

He said he had heard rumors that efforts were being made to install gambling devices in eastern Missouri retail liquor outlets. He issued a statement warning licensees their permits to operate might be suspended or revoked if liquor agents find gambling devices in their places.

Hewitt indicated the reports came from the St. Louis area and other parts of eastern Missouri. He declined to be more specific. He said he had received no reports of attempted gambling in the Kansas City area or in western Missouri.

So far, he reported, no liquor licensees have been cited for hearings because they have gambling devices.

"I just want to make it clear what our position is," he said. Hewitt said he had not consulted Gov. Forrest Smith about his warning statement. But he said it was "in keeping with the policy announced by Governor Smith at the beginning of his administration."

Call For Reports
"All of the agents and inspectors of this department have been instructed to report to me all licensees having gambling devices or permitting gambling on premises covered by the licenses issued by this department," his statement said.

Such violators will be cited before me for hearings. In the event a licensee is found guilty, his state license will be suspended or revoked.

"The supervisor of liquor control will not tolerate gambling devices of any kind on licensed premises."

Hewitt said the warning is based on a liquor regulation (14-D) which bars all gambling devices where "the one who plays stands to win or lose money, trade checks, prizes, merchandise or any other consideration whatsoever."

The rule says the presence of any gambling device in a licensed place "shall create a presumption of a violation of this rule."

Asked whether pinball machines would fall under the regulation, Hewitt indicated that would depend on how they are used. He said he did not want to pre-judge the question until it is presented to him in a specific case.

During legislative debates last spring charges were made that Illinois gamblers were slipping across the Mississippi river to try operations in eastern Missouri.

Suggest That Lawns be Cut
The Sedalia Chamber of Commerce has received several calls from citizens who are anxious that the people of the town cooperate to make Sedalia beautiful for the Missouri State Fair next week. They suggest that everybody cut their lawns, cut or pull weeds about the home or do anything they can to improve the looks of their homes so that Fair visitors will have a good impression of the town.

Another suggestion was that the merchants not forget to put "Welcome Fair Visitors" signs in their windows as a courtesy to those who come to Sedalia to attend the Fair.

The Weather
Considerable cloudiness with occasional showers and thunderstorms Friday and most of Friday night; Saturday partly cloudy with scattered thundershowers; southeast portion; little change in temperatures; high Friday 80 to 85 northwest to 90 southeast.

Slash Aid To Europe

House Halves Fund In Arms Aid Plan Of Administration; Senate Acts Next

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—(AP)—The House tonight approved an $869,505,000 program of arming foreign nations after dealing the administration a blow by halving the fund sought for European countries.

The vote on final passage was 238 to 122.

The measure slashed $580,485,000 from the program designed to strengthen non-Communist nations against Russian aggression.

The entire cut was made in the funds sought for western European members of the North Atlantic Security treaty.

The bill now goes to the Senate.

Limit Plan To June 30
The cut, contained in an amendment by Rep. Richards (D-SC), also limited the whole rearmament undertaking to next June 30, where as Mr. Truman planned it was for two years.

The amendment was adopted by a topheavy 209 to 151 roll call vote.

Administration leaders appealed in vain for the full $1,450,000,000 plan as presented by the President. It had been urged as the smallest amount needed to build up the nations in the shadow of Russia's military machine in a hurry and forestall any Soviet ideas of over-running Europe.

"Second Look" Next Spring
But backers of the Richards amendment accepted it as a way of taking a "second look" next spring to make sure the European nations were cooperating for mutual defense before setting up any more money.

In the Senate, hearings on the program continued today before the combined Senate foreign relations and armed services committees.

The Richards amendment made no changes in the $211,370,000 military aid requested for Greece and Turkey, and $27,640,000 for Iran, Korea and the Philippines.

Must Use U. S. Vessels
The only other major change in the bill requires that half the supplies sent abroad must be shipped in United States vessels and at prevailing shipping rates. It was adopted by voice vote.

The House defeated amendments to furnish arms to Nationalist China and southern Asia, to prohibit the use of U. S. troops for non-combatant duty abroad, to require the President to give preference in furnishing supplies to business firms in areas having severe unemployment, and to prohibit the assignment of U. S. troops to other nations for any purpose.

Many northern Democrats on whom the administration had counted for support voted for the Richards amendment to cut the Western European fund. Southerners split, while most Republicans backed the cut.

Zeb M. Cole, Engineer; Retired Has Seen Railroading Change

As Zeb M. Cole, Missouri Pacific engineer, sat in the cab of the diesel engine of No. 12 Saturday morning, August 6, heading toward St. Louis, he was completing his fortieth year as an engineer on the Missouri Pacific railroad.

Starting his railroad career on the Southern railroad in Princeton, Ind., on December 8, 1900, he went to St. Louis as an engineer on August 6, 1909, and has been running on that road since. Although his home has been in that city continuously he has made many friends in Sedalia, having run into this city and spent his lay-overs here many years.

There has been a vast change in railroad equipment and working conditions since Mr. Cole first started as an engineer on the Missouri Pacific. Modern invention has given the diesel engine with the enclosed cab, which is a far cry from the hand fired engines of 1909.

Garb Unchanged
The engineer's garb has not changed. He still wears overalls, often faded light blue from many washings, the high cap with bill in front, the bandana handkerchief, red or blue, around his neck, and the open face watch that is his constant companion. He still stuffs the thin green or white papers, which are his orders that make his journey and yours along the silver ribbons of track safe, in his pocket as he climbs on the engine to make his trip. The difference in his looks is when he climbs down from the engine. No longer is he black with coal dust, smoke and grease as he ends his day's run, looking as if he might be from a black-face minstrel show.

No longer does he sit, one hand on the throttle, his head and shoulders out the cab window watching the track and the signals as the road unfolds before him, the mighty giant of iron he guides roaring along the track through towns and villages, whistling, chugging, steaming along the countryside, its long plume of smoke vanishing in air far behind it. He does not feel today the heat of the sun burning his face and glaring in his eyes on hot summer days, nor the sleet, snow and wind beating against his face in winter as he watches to see that all was clear ahead.

Many Changes
His fireman at his side no longer stands in a half bent position as he shovels with steady precision the coal into the flaming firebox, sweat pouring from his body, an entire railroad car or coal in a single trip, shovel by shovel.

As Zeb Cole rounded out his fortieth year with the Missouri Pacific railroad, he thought, as all old time railroad men do, of the changes that have taken place in railroading. The difference in today's trains and those of 40 years ago, of railroaders he had known in the past and of many interesting experiences he had had, "some good," he smiled, "and some bad."

Enlisted in Air Force
Larry J. Brosch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Brosch, 239 South Grand avenue, and Edward W. Staley, 228 South Stewart avenue, have enlisted in the United States Air Force for a period of one year.

Rob Peabody's Tomato Patch

Guy Peabody, 1600 South Prospect avenue, has his shotgun ready and he says there is going to be shot in somebody's heels if they don't stay out of his tomato patch.

Mr. Peabody prides himself on his tomatoes. He has cultivated, fertilized, staked, watered and admired his tomato plants as they grew, blossomed and bore little green tomatoes that grew into big ones of perfection and then turned red. The plants, some now far above his head have been bearing tomatoes for sometime, a bucket full every two days.

Friday night Mr. Peabody looked at his tomatoes over and decided to wait until morning to pick them. Saturday morning when he went out with his bucket there were only two tomatoes left. Somebody had taken every ripe tomato on the vines except two on the plant right at the back door. "I don't know why they didn't take those two," he said in disgust, "if they will come back I'll give them to them."

All the buildings of the Fair have been sprayed in the same manner. The Fair opens next Sunday, August 21, for an eight-day run. (McVey-Zoernig Photo.)

Street Job Was Finished Friday

Approximately $15,000 obtained from city gasoline tax, parking meters and from city license stickers, was expended for applying bituminous material on the city streets.

The city's job of seal or re-seal coating of nearly seven miles of city streets was completed Friday, and now the 12-Mile Road District has started to pour asphalt over city streets, which fall in the district's jurisdiction to maintain.

James I. Collins, city engineer, complimented residents of Sedalia, who were very cooperative in replacing blockades set up around wet asphalt streets, which were knocked down by motorists.

Sedalia now has more than 35 miles of seal-coated streets, and it is anticipated to have most of the streets lacking seal coating completed by next year.

The city engineer said before any seal coating can be applied with asphalt, the streets must have a sufficient base with either gravel or stone.

W. J. Menefee had the city contract to apply the asphalt and spread chat on the streets. The seal coat was measured and paid for on the square yard basis. Menefee has the paving contract of the 12-Mile Road district.

Red Cross Corner

Cognizant of the fact that the 1949-1950 school year is about to begin, Miss Margaret Egan, chairman of Junior Red Cross, is well into the program outlined for her Juniors by National Red Cross. Last Tuesday morning Miss Egan spoke to the county teachers at their regular meeting at the court house. She emphasized the importance of the static activities of JRC, as well as the projects which will take shape early in the fall. Following this meeting, the Chapter had requests from Tanglewood and Pin Oak schools to have their First Aid kits replenished. It is a satisfaction to know that Junior Red Cross continues to expand, and that the interest of the school children does not lag, but increases with each succeeding year.

The main purpose of the Optimists in their boys' work, is to give the boys spiritual, physical and mental guidance. This three-fold program operates continuously. The boys are encouraged to attend church of their own choice, to participate in basketball, baseball, wrestling and other sports. During the year the boys are given the opportunity to do work with handicrafts of various types, first aid and camping.

The Sedalia Optimists obtained sometime ago a two-room house from Ed Schlobohm with a 15-year lease at two dollars a year. The cabin is located three miles south of Smithton on Flat Creek. The water supply at the cabin has been approved and concrete for the floors of two new screened porches has been poured. When the cabin is complete it will be able to hold 40 boys for summer week-end campings.

The cabin's location provides ample recreation, such as fishing, swimming and other outdoor activities. A 14 foot boat was given the boys by Dr. C. D. Osborne.

Passion Plant Just Appears

A little vine started growing in the yard of Mrs. Morgan Thorn, 713 Lafayette avenue, and at first she thought it was weed or wild vine. For awhile she left it alone and then curious to know what it was, she trained it up a lattice. Then the vine began to bud and bloom, gorgeous big purple and white fringed flowers all over it. Other little plants began to come up as the seeds dropped. Her neighbors and friends were as interested in the vine as she was and she gave some of the plants to friends who now have a good start of the vine, too.

Saturday a friend of Mrs. Thorn brought two of the flowers to the Democrat-Capital office. They are passion flowers, so named because of their supposed resemblance of the corona to the crown of thorns, and of the other part of the flower to the nails or wounds, while the five sepals and five petals were taken to symbolize ten apostles. Peter, who denied and Judas, who betrayed being left out.

Mrs. Thorn has not the slightest idea how the vine started in her yard.

Stocking up For Fall And Holiday Trade

Business Loans Increase Indicate Upward Trend

By Charles Molony
WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—(P)—Business loans appear definitely on the increase in volume. The gain is a sign that business men are stocking up on goods at last for fall and Christmas sales.

Finance officials here predicted today this uptrend will go on—with perhaps some interruptions—right on up to Christmas itself. The rejuvenating effects on the economy of increased inventory buying can be judged by the fact that the Commerce department singled out a cutback in that buying as the prime cause of the 1949 dip in business.

A federal Reserve Board report showing an $80,000,000 increase in loans to business men by leading city banks during the week ended August 10 mirrored a virtually country-wide improvement.

All districts shared in the expansion except the Cleveland district, where there was a $7,000,000 downturn, and Boston, where the loan volume was unchanged, officials reported.

The big gains were $38,000,000 in New York City and $20,000,000 in the Kansas City district. At New York, the loan increases extended to a wide variety of business fields, officials said.

Look For Factory Step-up
With business men ordering more goods to sell in turn to their customers, factories can be expected to step up operations and in some cases recall workers laid off when orders thinned or stopped.

Leon Keyserling, of President Truman's council of economic advisers, said only yesterday that the country will have to get back to and exceed 1948 production levels to be prosperous.

Declaring increased production is easy and that the No. 1 problem is to lift consumption to the levels of productive capacity, Keyserling told a war veterans luncheon.

"In the next ten years we must find ways to absorb 80 to 100 billion of additional goods unless we are going to be faced perpetually with rising unemployment and increasing under-utilization of our productive resources."

Without an expanding economy, in which consumption ability will furnish incentive for a 5 to 4 per cent increase in production annually, the nation will suffer a 700,000-a-year rise in unemployment without any letup, Keyserling said.

The stimulus to production expected to flow from renewal of business orders for inventory purposes was expected to help toward bringing the 1,000,000 increase in employment Secretary of Labor Tobin predicted Tuesday will take place during the rest of 1949.

Cheer Note to Missourian
JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 18—(P)—George E. Davis came up with a cheering note on central Missouri business conditions today.

Davis is local manager for the State Division of Employment Security, which keeps track of jobs and unemployment conditions.

"We could place nearly 100 power machine operators in jobs today if they were available," he said. "There are jobs open in the clerical and construction skills."

"I see no reason why unemployment should rise in this community."

Health Leaders Speak On Polio

CHICAGO, Aug. 18—(P)—The normal pattern of community life should not be disturbed unnecessarily because of an outbreak of infantile paralysis, health leaders said today.

"Whatever is done to upset the usual routine of children in a household or of adults in their habits is likely to bring more trouble than good as far as control of infantile paralysis is concerned," they said.

The recommendations were made by the Journal of the American Medical Association and the National Conference on Recommended Practices for the Control of Poliomyelitis, sponsored by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Inc. They added:

"Public and private schools should not be closed during an outbreak of poliomyelitis nor their opening delayed except for specific reasons. Schools to which children are transported by buses from widely separated areas or boarding schools, excluding colleges and universities, should delay opening sessions if an outbreak of poliomyelitis exists in the area where the school is located."

In addition the foundation has sent three physical therapists to Missouri.

Scientists Critical Of 'Loyalty Order'

Organization Calls Idea "Basically Objectionable"

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—(P)—The world's largest general organization of scientists today assailed President Truman's "loyalty order" affecting federal employees as "basically objectionable."

The same organization, the American Association for the Advancement of Science (AAAS), also strongly criticized the "security clearance" programs of the National Military Establishment (NME) and the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) as they affect scientists.

In a report published in the association's weekly journal "Science," the AAAS noted that Mr. Truman's loyalty order provides that no person shall be employed in a federal post "if he is believed to be disloyal" to the U. S. government.

"No one doubts the importance of faithful discharge of duty by public officials," the report said. "No one questions the propriety of the government's demanding that its employees be loyal to their jobs and to the democratic institutions they serve."

"Drastic Revision" Needed
"The loyalty order is, however, basically objectionable because it seeks to determine the employee's loyalty by inquiring into his supposed thoughts and attitudes, which are established in large part by imputing to him the beliefs of his associates."

"If the loyalty order is to be retained," the statement said, "a drastic revision is essential."

The association said the NME's program allowed appeal only to military "tribunal" when a civilian scientist's clearance is disapproved by the NME, and it added:

"Such subjection of the destinies of civilian to military tribunals is contrary to national tradition."

Shun AEC Program
Of the AEC's program, the AAAS declared that "work in that (atomic energy) field will be shunned by men of ability and pride if they are constantly treated as subjects of suspicion and possible calumny."

The statements were contained in a report drafted by the AAAS's "special committee on civil liberties of scientists." Secretary Howard Meyerhoff of the association told a reporter the report has been ratified by the governing council of the organization, representing 24,000 members in 211 affiliated scientific organizations.

ICC Authorizes Issue Of Railroad Stock

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—(P)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today authorized the Kansas City and Brookfield Railroad Co. to issue $50,000 of common stock.

The company, a newly formed subsidiary of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, will use the proceeds in connection with its proposed construction of a new 45-mile line between Missouri City Junction and Tina, Mo. The new line will give Burlington trains a new route between Kansas City and Chicago, which will save 24 miles over present trackage.

In connection with the new route, Burlington today was authorized to acquire 16 miles of trackage rights between Birmingham, Mo., and Missouri City Junction from the Wabash railroad.

Orders by Truman As to Steel Mill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—(P)—President Truman said today it was on his orders that the government granted Yugoslavia permission to buy an American steel mill.

He told a news conference that the National Security Council studied the matter and recommended letting Yugoslavia have the mill. Then, he said, he personally ordered that it be sent.

The move has provided Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito with reinforcements to carry on his fight with Moscow.

Places of recreation and amusement need not be closed; however, attendance of children at such places should be discouraged."

The Journal said in an editorial that "reliable evidence is lacking of the spread of poliomyelitis by insects, water, food or sewage."

It added that quarantine has not proved valuable in preventing the spread of polio

Convicted in Lonely Hearts Murder Case

Verdict to Pair Carries With it Death Sentence

NEW YORK, Aug. 18—(P)—Plump Martha Beck and her lover, Raymond Fernandez, were convicted of first degree murder today in the lonely hearts murder case. The verdict carries a mandatory death sentence.

Both defendants received the verdict stoically. Fernandez stood erect, his face displaying no emotion. Mrs. Beck rested her taut fingers on the defense counsel table.

The verdict was announced by a jury that had been kept in session all night on orders of the court. The court set Monday for sentencing and defense motions. Near dawn, the jurors, on duty since yesterday morning, asked permission to go to bed. However, the court said it would not be convenient to grant the request and sent them back to their deliberations.

After the verdict was announced both defendants were instructed to sit down. Mrs. Beck stated at her counsel, Herbert E. Rosenberg and Fernandez glared at the still standing defense lawyer.

Polled The Jury
The jury was polled at the request of the defense and each answered affirmatively when asked if it was his or her verdict.

The 10 men and two women had been in almost continuous deliberation—except for three trips to the courtroom during the night for instructions—since Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora completed his charges last night.

Mrs. Beck, 29, and Fernandez, 34, had no rest during the night. They were kept in cells in the detention pen in the courthouse. Fernandez and Mrs. Beck were convicted of slaying Mrs. Faye, 66, Albany, N. Y., widow, at Valley Stream, N. Y., in a scheme to fleece lonely women in mail romances.

The state charged that the killing was deliberate, and in his summation Edward Robinson, Jr., Nassau County N. Y., assistant district attorney, told the jury the motive was "dead men tell no tales."

The verdict at 7:30 a. m. (EST) came 12 hours and 34 minutes after the jury received the case last night.

Justice Pecora dismissed the jury with thanks. He told them they had performed "an arduous service, a highly responsible service, one that you have acquitted yourselves of with generous devotion."

personnel and over 90 per cent of all military freight without serious delay, with the delays and congestion in World War I when the government operated the railroads. Furthermore, he declared, "it cost the taxpayers under government operation $2,000,000 a day to operate the railroads in World War I, while in the recent war, under private operation, the railroad paid into the Federal treasury taxes at the rate of $3,000,000 per day."

"The railroads want no subsidy from the government," Maxwell concluded. "What the country and the industry needs is a new national transportation policy, so designed that each agency of transportation is permitted to handle that traffic for which it is best economically constituted without aid from government."

Insufficient Funds To Control Rents

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—(P)—President Truman said today that the failure of Congress to provide sufficient money to enforce the rent control law forced the decision to lift the controls from one-third of the areas which now have them.

Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods had no alternative but to make that decision, Mr. Truman told his news conference. He said that was all Woods could do with the amount made available to him for enforcement.

Woods announced yesterday that the controls will be removed by October 1 in about a third of the areas where they now exist. Details have yet to be announced, but Woods said the changes will be country-wide and not concentrated in any particular section.

Rent controls now are effective in about 1,000 counties with 13,000,000 dwelling places. However, the decontrol decision is not expected to affect one-third of the latter number, since the action will not be concentrated in places where the bulk of the rental units are located.

Six Women Are Killed

Flaming Death to Them in Auto And Truck Collision

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., Aug. 18.—(P)—Six women died a flaming death early today when their automobile and a car of soldiers crashed into a transport truck between here and Camp Campbell.

George Womble of the Kentucky state police said two of the three soldiers in the other automobile were injured.

He identified the dead as: Mrs. Lucy Roper, superintendent of the Jennie Stewart Memorial hospital at Hopkinsville.

Miss Maude Oatts, assistant at the hospital.

Mrs. Roper's daughter, Ann Roper.

Miss Mary Ann Pryor, nurse.

Miss Trudor, a visitor of Ann Roper.

And Miss Mary Jefford, a nurse. Womble said the soldiers tried to pass the transport when their automobile rammed into the rear of Mrs. Roper's car and drove it into the side of the transport.

Mrs. Roper's car and the trailer truck, heavily laden with four new automobiles, burst into flames on impact and blazed into an inferno fed by spewing gas and oil.

It burned for more than an hour before firemen could bring the blaze under control.

Bodies of the six women were charred almost beyond recognition, Womble said.

The truck driver, Otis W. Merriam of Evansville, Ind., escaped injury, he added.

Lt. Col. R. V. Bottomly, provost marshal at the camp, said he didn't believe the injuries of the two soldiers were serious. He identified them as Pvt. Marcus Barraza, of Los Angeles, the driver and Pvt. Gabriel Huerta, Santa Paula, Calif. Both are being held under guard, he said.

Bottomly said the third paratrooper, Pvt. Felice Murreto, has not been seen since the accident and that a search is now under way for him.

No Bad News In Kirk Report

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—(P)—There was no bad news in Ambassador Alan G. Kirk's report on his conference at Moscow on Monday with Premier Stalin, President Truman said today.

The President said it was the usual courtesy call that an ambassador always pays on the head of a state.

He would not comment on what took place at the conference, but said Kirk reported fully to him.

A reporter asked if there was "Any bad news" in the report, and Mr. Truman replied in the negative. He did not elaborate.

Secretary of State Acheson said yesterday Ambassador Kirk mentioned Russian jamming of "Voice of America" broadcasts and lend-lease settlement, in his talk with Stalin.

Suit Filed For $30,000 Damages

House Action on the Minimum Wage Bill is a Hollow Triumph

By Bruce Blossat

The 75-cents-an-hour minimum wage bill approved by the House represents a rather hollow triumph for the administration, for it would bring mixed blessings to American workers.

The measure would raise the minimum wage for stipulated occupations from the present 40 cents an hour to 75 cents. It would extend this coverage to 155,000 workers not now protected. About 1,300,000 would get raises if the proposal becomes law.

But, on the other hand, it would exclude 1,160,000 workers who now come under the act. The net loss in worker coverage would be 1,005,000.

The administration bill, which was side tracked, would have added 675,000 workers to the eligible list and have made other liberalizing changes.

Furthermore, the measure adopted by the House would greatly complicate the already difficult task of administering the wage standards act. It provides, for example, that wage minimums in the retail and service trades should apply only to persons "indispensable to production of goods for interstate commerce."

Offhand, one would imagine that in many establishments it is quite impossible to determine who is indispensable to production intended for out-of-state shipment. Small firms particularly make no such neat divisions of labor.

House Democratic leaders indicate they are counting on the Senate to bring out a bill more to the administration's liking. But to judge from committee wrangling so far, there can be no assurance the upper chamber will produce a measure suitable to President Truman.

It would be foolish for a layman to say what the minimum wage should be or what specific fields of employment should be covered.

But if the object of a floor under wages is to introduce a large element of stability into workers' lives and the general economy, then it would seem sensible to have as broad a coverage as possible. And if a boost from 40 to 75 cents can be attained only at sacrifice of coverage for 1,005,000 workers, it might be better to settle for a smaller advance that could be more widely shared.

Coming on top of congressional defeat for the administration's Taft-Hartley repealer, House action on minimum wages ought to induce new caution among the prophets. These are the lawmakers, remember, who were labeled the "Fair Deal Congress" last January and were said to be ready and willing to enact Mr. Truman's social welfare program virtually in its entirety.

Those glib predictions plainly were far wide of the mark.

U. S. Prestige in Middle East Predominant

By Robert S. Allen

(Ed. Note — While Drew Pearson is on vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round will be written by his old partner, Robert S. Allen.)

WASHINGTON, August 19 — A high U. S. official just returned from a tour of the Middle East reports one outstanding impression.

It is this:
That, amid the welter of assassination, intrigue and autocratic rule in this ancient cockpit, the prestige and power of the United States stands out like a gleaming beacon.

The official related this episode to prove his point:

Following the attempted slaying some months ago of the Shah of Iran, he imposed iron handed martial rule. The Iranian press particularly felt the weight of the shah's fury. Seventeen liberal, non-Communist newspapers were suppressed and their editors thrown into jail. He also ordered them tried on charges of subversive activities.

To support these charges, articles dating back as far as 20 years were brought into court against the editors.

Despite these extreme measures, only six were convicted.

U. S. ambassador in Iran is John Wiley. An able, tough-minded career man, he has been an outstanding success in his delicate and arduous post. A firm believer in democracy and freedom of the press, Wiley, privately, was shocked by the autocratic persecution of the editors. But because it was a strictly internal affair, he meticulously kept hands off until after the six editors were sentenced.

Several days later, Wiley sent each of them a small package. It consisted of one pack of American cigarettes — with Wiley's personal card.

Nothing was written on the card. Also, there was nothing secret about Wiley's action. His chauffeur delivered the packages to the prison and turned them over to the warden to give to the editors. That was all there was to it.

The shah, of course, was immediately informed. Also, he got the point.

The following day, the editors were pardoned. Note — Because of Wiley's penetrating and forthright reports to the state department, the Iranian ambassador in Washington is very hostile toward him. The Iranian has repeatedly tried to undermine Wiley.

No Merger

Behind the scenes, the widely publicized merger between Amvets and AVC has gotten nowhere. Reason is strong rank-and-file opposition in both veteran organizations. At the bottom of this are two factors: Amvet membership is much more conservative than AVC, and a confidential memorandum sent out by AVC commander Harold A. Keats. In this document he stresses the financial benefits that will accrue to Amvets by absorbing the 35,000 AVC dues-paying members.

AVC officials are aware that Amvet's headquarters is hard up and that its national officers draw $35,000 a year in salaries and expenses.

Deadlock

Illustrative of the snafued state of congressional business is an unpublished but long standing deadlock between the House and Senate over the Army civil functions bill.

This stalemate has been going on since June 1, with no sign of a break in sight.

Cause of the deadlock is a $590,000,000 rivers and harbors rider that the Senate wrote into the measure. This huge local gravy grab was not included in the President's budget. The fund would be spent by the Army engineers, which have one of the most potent undercover lobbies in Washington.

The House conferees, led by Representative Clarence Cannon, D. Mo., have adamantly refused to budge on the issue. Cannon has served notice he will block the bill as long as it contains the half-billion dollar rider.

Militant backers of the rider are Sens. John McClellan, D., Ark., Pat McCarran, D., Nev. and Chan Gurney, R., S. D. McClellan is head of the rivers and harbors congress, an army engineers lobby, and all three of the senators are loud "economy" talkers. But on this gravy grab, they are singing a different tune.

To date, it has made no impression on hard-boiled Cannon.

The Nation Today

by James Marlow

WASHINGTON—(AP)—By this time you may be getting dizzy trying to follow all the international plans, pacts and programs.

The Marshall Plan, the Atlantic Pact, Army for Europe, the Council of Europe, Western Federation. What do they mean?

They mean—except for Western Federation, which is something in the future—just this:

The nations of the western world are teaming up in one way or another. Take the plans one by one:

The Marshall Plan—. This is economic help which the United States is giving to 16 nations to help them recover from the war and stand off Communism.

They are Britain, France, Western Germany, Netherlands, Italy, Austria, Belgium, Luxembourg, Greece, Norway, Sweden, Trieste, Turkey, Denmark, Iceland, Ireland.

The Atlantic Pact—. Under this, a military alliance, the following 12 nations agree to go to one another's help if they're attacked:

United States, Canada, Belgium, Britain, Luxembourg, Norway, Denmark, Italy, Iceland, Portugal.

The Arms Program—. Under this the U. S.—if Congress approves—will help arm its partners in the Atlantic Pact, or some of them, so they could withstand a Russian attack for a while. Congress has begun debate. It's expected to approve.

The Council of Europe—. Thirteen European nations are taking part. The council can't really do anything. Its job is limited to debate and recommendations on political, cultural and some economic matters.

Not Discuss Defense

It cannot discuss defense problems. That's a job for the Atlantic Pact countries. The 13 nations taking part are: Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, Netherlands, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Ireland, Iceland, Luxembourg, Greece, Turkey.

The council is really a parliament of nations, Europe's first. It's the outgrowth of the European unity movement begun by Winston Churchill in 1946.

The council can't enforce anything, so its findings on whatever it examines can only be recommendations. That's another way of saying this:

No nation which has joined it has yielded any of its own sovereignty. That is, no nation or group of nations in the council can tell any other member-nation what it must do.

The council is divided into two bodies: a committee of ministers (a cabinet) and a consultative assembly (a parliament).

Each member nation of the council is allowed one delegate—its own foreign minister—in the committee of ministers. This committee can limit and control the matters to be discussed by the assembly.

In this assembly there's some opposition to this rigid censorship by the committee of ministers.

In the assembly—which is free only to approve or disapprove matters put before it by the ministers—there are more than 100 members, or delegates, from the member-nations. The number of delegates from each country depends upon its size. The council started meeting Aug. 8.

This may be the first step toward a real union of the countries of western Europe.

Federation—. A number of resolutions have been introduced in Congress this year, urging various kinds of union among nations.

They range from suggestions that a limited number of western nations unite, somewhat as the United States are united, to a union of all the members of the United Nations.

No action can be expected in Congress before next year. Hearings on the resolutions may start in the Senate in January.

Handling Joint Income Poses Pitfall For Many Newlyweds

"What is the best way for a married couple to handle their money when both have jobs?" asks a girl who is planning to be married in October.

The answer is simple for the couple who ask before marriage and before they've had a chance to get off on the wrong foot.

The very first week of your marriage open a joint checking account and a joint savings account. Make your weekly or monthly deposit in the savings account first. Then put the money that is to pay your bills in your checking account.

That way you'll start your marriage off as a business partnership.

Everything you both earn and everything you save will belong to the two of you together. And everything you contract to buy becomes a joint responsibility.

Will Start Off on Right Foot

Furthermore, you won't develop the bad habit of thinking in terms of "my money" and neither will your husband. Right from the start you'll think in terms of "our money."

And that habit, begun when you both have jobs, will carry over even after you quit your job, as you probably will in time.

Money is one of the major causes of arguments between husbands and wives. Yet that is one reason for quarreling any smart couple can eliminate.

The easiest time to eliminate it is at the beginning of a marriage.

So look on whatever you and your husband earn as "our money" and encourage him to do so, too. For most married couples who fight over money never started out with a sound, fair, workable handling of their money. They got off on the wrong track—and stayed on it. ■

Rupture of a Spinal Disk Sometimes Requires Surgery

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

One of the important causes of pain in the lower portion of the back and of the condition which is commonly called sciatica is a condition which is usually known as a rupture or hernia of an intervertebral disk.

The back or spinal column is made up of a large number of separate bones called vertebrae. There are five of these in the lower back or lumbar region. Between these bones lies a softer tissue known as cartilage. In some patients with back trouble, or sciatica, this softer cartilage is injured and degenerates in the course of time, the degenerated cartilage may rupture between the vertebrae and produce pain.

Diagnosis Difficult

Even X-rays may not show anything immediately after the rupture has occurred. In the course of time, however, the rupture of a disk will cause a narrowing of the space between the bones of the vertebral column at the point where the rupture has occurred.

As a rule those having a first attack of pain caused by a ruptured disk should be treated conservatively. Also conservative treatment is advised for those who have mild attacks but not too often, those who are over 50 years old, and for those in whom the diagnosis is in doubt.

For patients with intolerable back pain or pain in the sciatic nerve, those who have repeated severe attacks for a long period of time, and for some others surgery may have to be considered. The operation employed in such cases may be just removal of the ruptured disk or it may include, in addition to removal of the disk, a fusion or binding together of the two vertebral bones between which the disk lies.

The recognition of the fact that ruptures of this kind can occur and can in most cases be successfully treated surgically has given relief to a great many who would otherwise have suffered for years with intolerable pain.

Note: Dr. Jordan is unable to answer individual question from readers. However, each day he will answer one of the most frequently asked questions in his column.

The Doctor Answers

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
QUESTION: What is the cause of gray hair in a young person? Does it come from worry?

ANSWER: The most probable cause of gray hair in a young person is heredity. At least one of the parents—probably the mother—also got gray hairs early. Most doctors are skeptical about worry in youth as a cause of gray hair.

By ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES

THE STORY: Gaynel Teare, while waiting to meet Barry Dinsmore, one of the young motor kings of Detroit, is "picked up" by an "outrageous young man," in spite of all she can do to prevent it. This young newspaper advertising man, Frederick Fitzroy (Fitz) Freymann, is engaging and funny. Gaynel decides that Barry has taken her too much for granted and she'll teach him a lesson.

III
"KOBEE, oh Kobeel!" Gaynel spied the little Filipino coming down the Grand Staircase, so designated because it rose with such majestic dignity from the exact center of the enormous, crystal-chandeliered reception hall.

"Even the dogs seem to have deserted the house, Kobeel! For heaven's sake, what's that terrific racket? Why have you such a guilty look? Tell me—what's up, what's going on?"

"I have wish to exchange the word," Kobeel said. His small, beady eyes were apprehensive; he rubbed his hands, wrinkled and dry as old parchment, together in silent anguish. "You come home very late."

"Never mind that," Gaynel interrupted.

"We are all wait for it," Kobeel reminded gently. "That is why I make the preparation for you." He sighed deeply and shook his head. "I have the wish to inform you that it is now the desire to open the theater, to benefit the performances."

Gaynel yanked off her small tan beret, made a ringer with it over a huge silver loving cup on the mammoth secretary, peeled off her gloves and tossed them in the same direction. "You don't mean Mother's opening the theater? Why, it hasn't been so much as dusted since we used to do Uncle Tom and Elsie Dinsmore for the admission of two pias."

Gaynel did not wait for his elaborate explanation. Another ear-splitting bang, as though a 10-ton truck were being trundled over her head, made her take the stairs to the third floor for first-hand observation.

THERE were a dozen or so people in the theater, which was practically emptied now of the old trunks and boxes and conglomerated storage of many years and the removal of which had, no doubt, been largely responsible for the sound effects.

Gaynel's younger sister, Pat, was sitting on the steps, nursing her chin and wearing a torn smock and her most set, stubborn air. Miss Cupples, the maid, was on tiptoe, handing something to Gaynel's mother who, perched on a stepladder, was feminine and fluffy, as usual, in her sheerest, most billowy house coat and highest rhinestone-heeled mules. Even Denny, Gaynel's brother, appeared to have been commissioned into activity. He was strutting about on the stage, giving forth Shakespearean selections to the accompaniment of Clipper. Pat's wire-haired, who yapped ecstatically at his heels and to the amusement of an admiring audience of two girls, rocking in each other's arms between fits of hysterical laughter.

"Darling!" Mrs. Teare discovered her eldest child standing like a grim Cerberus in the doorway. "So you're home at last. Do come on in, darling. See what we're doing."

In her enthusiasm she caught one of the rhinestone heels in the chiffon folds and was only saved from falling off the ladder by Miss Cupples' ever-ready hand.

"Hi. Sis!" Denny stopped his preening long enough to blow her a kiss, followed by a broad wink.

"Yes, it's too, too exciting. Did you come for a try-out, Miss?" He pulled his face into a severe contortion. The resemblance between Denny and Gaynel was striking; they might have been twins—there was only 18 months difference, except that, being masculine, Denny was almost too handsome for his own good.

"DENNY, please!" His mother threw him one of her beseeching looks, crossed to take Gaynel's hands. She remained blissfully unaware of Denny's slight mockery; it was inconceivable that any child of hers would be rude in any way; besides, Denny, being her only son and her favorite child, could do no wrong. "Darling, I want you to meet Melvin Mosby. . . Come here, Melvin. You see, darling, it's all Melvin's idea; he's so full of ideas! The little theater movement; all the arts. So worth while. . . the way the drama is declining with ball games and the cinema and all. Melvin, this is my other darling daughter. Gaynel, Mr. Mosby."

"How do you do?" Gaynel inclined her head, but she did not put out her hand. One look told her here was the Root of the Trouble. Mr. Mosby, in spite of his ideas, looked like a harmless and helpless rabbit; he had a long nose that actually quivered, and big ears.

So it was Little Theater now. Last month it had been a Surrealist, the month before a New Thought Cult; before that an orchestra leader, a relative of Miss Cupples, who by now had become a permanent fixture.

"You haven't said that you think it a lovely idea," he mother persisted. She put an arm through Gaynel's, drawing her into the group. "And this is Miss Pierce," introducing a short, plump girl with horn-rimmed glasses, who was struggling with some screens. "Miss Pierce is going to be in the dramatic division. And Mr. Thornblow. . . come here, Thorny, darling—Mr. Thornblow writes, Gaynel. He's going to do a play for us. Isn't that too wonderful?"

"Too wonderful," Gaynel agreed. She gathered her forces, telling herself she must be firm and cast her ballot now or never. Miss Pierce looked well nourished. And writers were supposed to be able to exist on next to nothing. But this really looked bad. One protege, or doctrinaire, was enough; a whole troupe was beyond comprehension.

"Won't it cost a terrible lot?" Gaynel ventured, watching for the pained expression that such material matters always brought to her mother's eyes. "Costumes and scenery and all, I mean. And just to heat this place alone." The furnaces simply gorged coal as it was. "Darling! I knew you'd say something like that!" The pained expression was very much in evidence.

Denny winked again at his sister. "Why, the whole thing isn't going to put us out a penny!" "Our idea," Mr. Mosby explained gravely, as though pampering a willful child, "is to make money, Miss Teare."

"For charity, of course!" her mother hastened to explain.

Gaynel wondered why she always must be the one put on the defensive. The Conscientious Objector. It wasn't a pleasant role. She hated to be made out pennurious. But after all she managed all the household finances. And she was the main contributor. She said, "It's not that I don't understand, or think it a nice idea. If you're sure that it won't cost . . ."

Finland in Crack Down

Aimed at Reds; Strike Leaders Shout Defiance

Finland's government, determined to smash a strike offensive it says is aimed at setting up a Communist state, cracked down today on strike leaders while the Reds shouted defiance.

The chairman of the City Council at Kemi, fountainhead of the snowballing strike movement and arena of its first violence, was arrested. Another City Council member was reported in custody. The council chairman, Lahja Heikkilae, was described as a leader of the Kemi strike call.

Police and strikers exchanged fire yesterday in Kemi, a northern lumber town. The first Finnish infantry station at Oulu, 60 miles away, said a striker was killed and nine persons, including three police, were injured.

Communist leaders said the strike movement would grow. Aimo Taltonen, Communist member of Parliament, said "the Working class should more firmly than before continue their fight for better wages."

Moscow cheered from the sidelines. The Communist party newspaper Pravda, which has stepped up attacks on Finland recently, proclaimed that a strike-wave was gripping all Finland with 100 per cent support from the workers.

Expulsion Threat

The Finnish Federation of Trade Unions has condemned the movement, threatening to expel Communist-led unions which called stoppages. Most Finnish unionists are non-Communists, and some 100,000 of the 300,000 unionists may defy strike calls. However, 100,000 strikers could throw the nation's economy out of gear.

Unto Varjonen, Finland's minister without portfolio, described the strike offensive as an attempt "to usurp power and establish a Peoples' (Communist) Democracy." He vowed it would be crushed.

The council of the Organization for European Economic Cooperation (OEEC) began consideration of a rock-bottom estimate of $3,621,600,000 for Europe's 1949-50 Marshall plan needs. The U. S. Senate and House have named a committee to split the difference in the total amount of Marshall aid money voted. The House has voted $3,568,000,000, and the Senate $3,778,000,000. Disappointed European delegates here had hoped for more.

Fear Mute Boy In Auto Trunk

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—(P)—Somewhere, perhaps a long way from home, an eight-year-old boy who can't speak may be locked in the trunk of an automobile.

The boy, Richard King of Long Island City, Queens, New York, who is mute, disappeared yesterday.

Police sent out a 15-state alarm today saying the boy may have crawled into the trunk of an automobile bearing Washington, D. C., license plates, without the driver's knowledge.

The car was near the Willow Brook state school, Long Island City, yesterday about the same time the boy was last seen. The number of the license plate was not known.

Two Die, Three Hurt in Accidents

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 19.—(P)—Automobile accidents yesterday claimed the lives of two persons and resulted in injuries to three others.

Mrs. Effie Edmondson, 60, of Springfield, died in an accident which occurred just west of the city limits.

In the second accident, which occurred on highway 65 about 10 miles north of Springfield, Clifford P. Hamilton, 38, was killed. Hamilton's companion, Ross J. McCoy, 38, is in a critical condition at Burge hospital, suffering from shock and a head wound.

A car occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bateman was involved in the collision which claimed the life of Mrs. Edmondson. The Batemans are receiving treatment at Springfield Baptist hospital. Mrs. Bateman is said to be in serious condition and her husband in only fair condition.

Glen T. Willis, 28 year old resident of nearby Northview, was found lying beside highway 66 about three miles east of Springfield early this morning and was taken to O'Reilly veterans hospital. His left leg was severed just below the knee.

He was found by a motorist who brought him to Springfield. Willis told hospital attaches he remembered seeing a train, then blacked out. He said he apparently dragged himself from the railroad track to the highway. Hospital attendants say he is suffering from loss of blood and shock and his condition is serious.

Runaway Truck Ends up at Bar

LARAMIE, Wyo., Aug. 19.—(P)—Rocketing out of a mountain canyon at 100 miles an hour, a runaway semi-trailer laid waste to Laramie's Main street yesterday.

The grain-laden truck injured five persons, damaged nine automobiles and wrecked two buildings. Damage was estimated at $30,000.

Driver Ernest Kirk, 26, of Beatrice, Neb., said the brakes failed on the Telephone Canyon road. It drops 2,000 feet in three miles. He said the truck was coming more than 100 miles an hour when it shot out of the canyon, five miles east of here.

The speed had dropped only slightly, he said, when he reached the city limits. The truck side-swiped a highway patrolman's car first. In the next two blocks, the hurtling truck brushed two other cars.

The third collision jack-knifed the trailer. The cab went hurtling against four cars. The trailer wrecked two others before plowing into a bar and a cafe.

The brick fronts were torn loose from the buildings.

Kirk was treated for minor injuries. He was charged in justice court with reckless driving.

Ruler of The Ku Klux Dies

Leader in Klan Affairs Asserts it Will Carry on

By Ben Price

ATLANTA, Aug. 19.—(P)—A heart attack last night killed imperial wizard Samuel Green, the fanatical ruler of the Ku Klux Klan.

There was no doubt, however, that the klan would carry on though minus the energetic leadership of the thin, 59-year-old physician with the Hitler-like mustache.

A leading Ku Kluxer here said the board of directors probably would meet next week to name a successor to the rasp-voiced little man who breathed a spirit of resurgence into the "invisible empire."

Though Dr. Green had been a klanman for 31 years, his family asked that the fact be omitted from his obituary.

At the time of his death, Dr. Green's passion for preaching "white supremacy" had made him a target for aroused newspaper editors and public officials.

They feared the klan might ride to power again on prejudice, as it did in the decade of the 1920's and become once more a powerful political factor in the south.

Angrily and bitterly, Dr. Green declared he was being "persecuted."

Blame on Others

As a pattern of violence spread over the south in which masked men figured in cross burnings, beatings and threats, Dr. Green relied more and more upon a stock denial.

All these acts he ascribed without fail to "bolshhevik" groups over which he had no control.

He promised that any klanman found guilty of violating the law would be banished. To offset growing public indignation, he ordered the klan unmasked just 10 days prior to his death.

The blow that hurt Green most, however, was the declaration by U. S. attorney general Tom Clark that the klan was subversive.

Green had always maintained that part of the klan oath was to uphold the constitution.

To prove his patriotism, Green often pointed to a letter of commendation signed by the late President Roosevelt thanking him for serving on the selective service board.

It was not until after the late war that the klan began to emerge again as a factor in southern life under the leadership of Dr. Green.

For his activities in reorganizing and revitalizing the klan, he recently was made "imperial wizard." Formerly he was called the "grand dragon."

Green was a native of Atlanta. He attended Emory-at-Oxford, Ga., and the Eclectic medical college at Cincinnati, Ohio. He is survived by his widow, two sons, Samuel, Jr. and Alfred, Jr., and a daughter Virginia.

Rice Leghorn Farm is Big Going Concern

Business Expanded And Flock Owners Highly Optimistic

An optimistic report on the future prospects of Rice Leghorn Farm, Inc., Sedalia and Marshall, is contained in a communication to flockowners by William Huston, of Marshall, president of the corporation since March 3, 1949, and associated with the business for approximately six years.

The business started out originally as a partnership of Okee L. Rice and his wife, Iva S. Rice. It was incorporated November 1, 1947, Mr. Rice serving as president until March of this year.

Executive personnel includes Secretary-Treasurer and Controller Paul C. Maxwell; General superintendent, personnel employment, Herman Farris, Leroy Ryan, assistant; Hatchery, Ervin Eckhoff; Shipping, sexing, Bryan Brown; Starter Production and Starter-shipment, Leroy Ryan; Mill-Box factory, Carl Farris; Breeding plant, Harold Eckhoff; Dressing farm, B. E. Raybourn; Office, Paul Mowry; Flock service, Howard Durrill.

In Substantial Condition

In advising flockowners of Rice Leghorn plans, the new 47-year-old president, Mr. Huston dispels rumors that the company would cease to operate. Instead he reports that "during the past year our financial condition has improved considerably and the company will continue to operate in the future even more effectively than in the past."

Since the poultry enterprise was conceived by the Rices on their small Green Ridge farm it has grown to one of the largest in the nation as breeders and hatchers of single comb white leghorns. Operation of the four following units make a well-rounded industry: hatchery, started chick plant, broiler production and breeding farm.

One of Largest Hatcheries

The hatchery, one of the largest in the world, consists of incubators and hatcheries capable of producing 2,100,000 chicks each setting. This unit alone, employs approximately 75 people, and is located at Marshall.

The started chick plant, one and half miles south of Sedalia on the east side of Highway 65, again is one of the largest of its type in the United States and has a capacity of 1,000,000 chicks from one day old to six weeks old.

The broiler plant, a new unit added in the late summer last year has had a stabilizing effect on the business enabling it to eliminate to a great extent the seasonal fluctuation in its operation. It is possible to process 100,000 broilers a month in peak seasons.

Large Breeding Farm

At Green Ridge, the company maintains a mammoth breeding farm. Here pedigreed chickens are trap nested and only the families with the best records in egg producing, disease resistance and conformation are perpetuated. A flock of 20,000 hens is in production on this farm the year around.

To summarize the magnitude of this enterprise and its economic effect on Sedalia and the surrounding trade territory, the company furnished the following statistics:

In 1949 the company paid out locally, $775,000 annual payroll; $300,000 feed ingredients; $250,000 eggs for hatchery; $41,000 power and electricity, and $75,000 for miscellaneous local purchases, making a total expenditure of $941,000.

The sales for 1948 amounted to $1,020,000 and sales for 1949 are estimated at $1,350,000. Business contracts have been made with some of the largest processors of poultry and eggs in the U. S. for further increase in business.

Scantly Clad Blonde Halts Traffic

BOSTON, Aug. 19.—(P)—A pretty blonde—nude except for white panties—stopped traffic at Beacon street and Massachusetts avenue.

There she explained—after much prompting—that her name was Brigid McHugh of Cambridge, daughter of a Massachusetts Institute of Technology student.

Oh, yes, her age—five years old. Her mother said she'd done it many times before.

Hungry Bears Coming Into Minnesota Cities For Food

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 18—(AP)—Invasions by hungry bears had residents of several northern Minnesota cities on the defensive today.

One rampaging bruin took the leading role today in a combination regatta, roping contest and slapstick comedy at Duluth.

Another bear at Virginia, described as "plenty big," invaded a home and "ate everything but the kitchen sink" and then ruined that, while a frightened mother and her two children barricaded themselves in upstairs quarters.

Bears, hungry because of a short wild berry and choke berry crop this year, have been visiting city areas the past two weeks in search of food. Many have been shot at Duluth, Two Harbors, Virginia and Hibbing.

The bear that invaded downtown Duluth was sighted near the Duluth ship canal, a short distance from the city's main thoroughfare. A crowd gathered at a safe distance. Bruin jumped into the water and started swimming.

Three men obtained a boat and started for the animal. Bruin, however, climbed into the boat and the three men went over the side.

As the last man was hurriedly leaving, the bear bade him farewell with a bite—right on the part that was uppermost at the time. The bear again took to the water and was lassoed as it neared shore. Police shot and killed it.

Christ Taught of God in Nature
By William E. Gilroy, D.D.
The German poet, Goethe, called nature "the living garment of God."

One cannot read the story of Jesus in the Gospels without realizing how essentially the divine ministry was of earth, as well as of heaven. It was not in classrooms, nor even in synagogues or temple, that the most distinctive teachings of Jesus were given. He talked with His disciples as they went through the fields, speaking of the flowers, the grain, the harvest; He discoursed of worship in spirit, and even announced His messiahship, as He sat talking with a woman at Jacob's Well. He preached to the people from a boat, cast off a little from the shore, when the pressure of the multitude became too great. And the most comprehensive of His teaching, the very charter of the Christian faith, was delivered as He sat on a mountainside surrounded by His disciples.

This was all as it should have been in that time and place, in the genial outdoor atmosphere of that little land of Palestine, in an age that had not yet developed the equipment gadgets, and ways that have made life, religion and education more confined to walls. But it was seemly for a deeper reason. It was typical of the religion in which Jesus had been brought up, and of the Scriptures that He knew so well. To the Hebrew writers the heavens declared the glory of God, and the firmament showed His handiwork. Psalm 19 spoke of a language of nature, unspoken, without words, but that nevertheless was heard through all the earth as day unto day uttered speech, and night unto night showed knowledge.

Two things were very real to the Psalmists and Prophets—one was the law of God and His providence in nature, the universe a manifestation of law and order, as the heavenly bodies maintained their paths and as the seasons, seedtime and harvest, kept their accustomed course in the earth. They lived in a world of law.

And the other reality, corresponding to this, but deeper, was the law of God in the heart, the assurance of right and wrong in life and conduct, and of man's highest attainment only when he lived in accordance with God's law of righteousness.

It must be evident to any careful observer that in all, or most, of this we have departed far from the essential Hebrew and Christian view of God and nature. I mean by "we" the general public attitude. A superficial observer might say that ours is an age of the out-of-doors, full of travel, play, of picnics, excursions and loafing. But how much of religion is there in it all? How much recognition of the God within nature's garment and of His laws upon which our very life and enjoyment depend?

It is not the religion of the out-of-doors, but the irreligion of so much of the out-of-doors, that mostly characterizes our modern way.

How much in this, as in other things, we need to learn from those who found a joy in God, and a pleasure in His world, that few today attain. So much of our life is an escape, rather than a discovery and attainment.

Mrs. Percy Metcalf, and Mrs. James W. Atkinson, organist.

Marriage Is A Partnership

Marriages begin to fail when husbands and wives lose the spirit of partnership. Marriage endures only so long as couples work and live harmoniously together, the man and the woman each making a unique contribution to the union.

The primary end of marriage is the procreation of children, but the joint responsibility of rearing children is not sufficient to keep married persons united and happy. There is an important secondary purpose of marriage—companionship—which can never be overlooked except at the risk of sacrificing the richest blessings of conjugal life.

Husbands and wives have different needs and these can only be met through mutual devotion. A husband must get constant consolation, encouragement and understanding from his wife. She must be willing to listen to his troubles, coax him out of his fits of moodiness or depression. Above all, she must make him realize that while she is the heart, he is the head of the home.

As for the wife, the greatest gift her husband can offer is kindness and consideration. Women need not only to be loved, but always to be made aware that they are truly treasured. It is not enough for a man to provide his wife with material comforts. He must pay her the little compliments she craves—compliments about her appearance, her cooking, or her skill as a homemaker. He should be proud and glad to share her worries, trifling as they might seem at times. He should be willing to take her out as often as she feels the need for relaxation and entertainment.

Too often the picture of married life becomes more and more drab and depressing as the years go by. Instead of being greeted with a bright smile when he returns home from work, the man finds his wife in a grumpy or complaining mood. Or it may be the other way round; many men return home with grim, unsmiling faces. Love may still dwell in the home, but it is no longer the bright joy it once was.

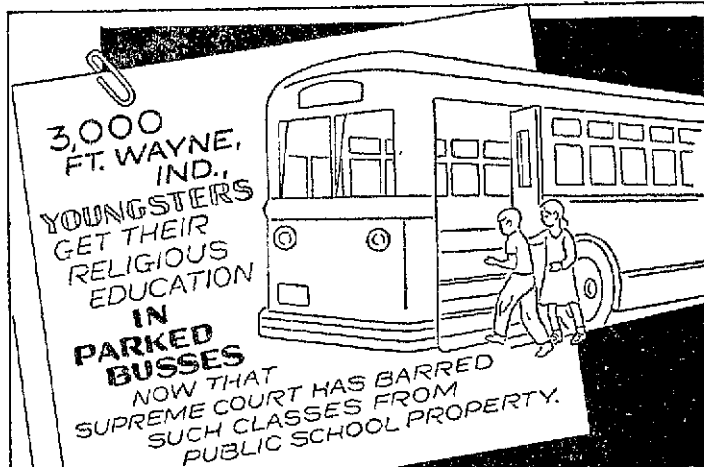

At any age, a husband and wife should cultivate a lively interest in each other. It is tragic to find a husband spending his evenings buried in a newspaper or listening to the radio, while his wife is off for a night of gossip in some neighbor's house. How long can happiness endure under such conditions? There is a great joy in marriage, but it is a joy that must be kept alive by those courtesies and gestures which are the visible proofs that love is still in the home.

Sinbad, young gorilla in Chicago's Lincoln Park zoo, had a bad toothache. After pacing his cage all night he finally broke down and told his pal, keeper Roy Huff, "All right, I'll go to your darned old dentist." But in the dentist's office, Sinbad got cold feet — even as you and I. It took strong hands to hold him down. After the extraction, Sinbad looked at the molar in open-mouthed astonishment, gave a sigh of relief and hugged Keeper Huff.

Results of Big Leagues Thursday

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

In the National, the Brooklyn Dodgers continued to flounder around. They dropped their third in a row to Philadelphia's Phils, 9-5, and fell a full game behind the pace-setting St. Louis Cardinals. The Redbirds and Cincinnati's Reds enjoyed an off day.

The American League third place Cleveland Indians walloped the St. Louis Browns, 14-4, in the only night game in the majors. Bob Lemon racked up his 15th triumph, while Larry Doby and Mickey Vernon each poled three-run homers for the Tribe.

The victory left the Indians five games behind the Yankees and one in back of the Red Sox.

Home Run Helped Braves

Home runs by Bob Elliott, Jeff Heath, Elbie Fletcher and Jim Russell helped the Boston Braves defeat the New York Giants, 10-6.

Rookie Jim Walsh, making his second start for Pittsburgh, pitched the Pirates to a three-hit, 2-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs. Ralph Kiner drove in both Pittsburgh runs with a single and triple.

The Detroit Tigers blanked the Chicago White Sox, 2-0 to snap a 19-inning scoring drought. The Bengals' tally in the first marked the first run against White Sox pitching in 28 consecutive innings.

Boston and Philadelphia, in the American League, were idle, as were the Cardinals and Reds in the National.

Grand Rapids Tourney Moves Into 2nd Round

By Charles C. Cain

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Aug. 19—(P)—A couple of veteran campaigners, E. J. (Dutch) Harrison and Jim Ferrier, were out in front today as the $15,000 Grand Rapids open golf tournament moved into the second round.

Harrison, playing out of St. Andrews, Ill., yesterday carded a 65, seven under par. He had seven birdies and an eagle on his round which tied the course record. On the incoming nine, Harrison came up with a red-hot 31, five under par.

That stood up as the best incoming nine of the day until Ferrier, one of the final starters, came up with a 30 after taking 36 going out.

Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago had a 34-33—67 to stay in the thick of the fight for the $2,600 first prize money. Chick Harbert's putter misbehaved and the Detroitier finished with a mediocre 38-37—75.

The field of 160 will be reduced to 60 after today's 18-hole round.

GREATEST HORSE ACT AT STATE FAIR

SEDALIA, AUGUST 21-28

MISS BOBBIE STEELE and her sensational horse act—a beautiful young blonde girl presenting two exceptionally trained horses—one a chestnut—one solid black—the first horse does a complete and polished dressage or high school routine including side pass, march, three-step, passage (highly accentuated trot), hesitation walk, one foot pirouettes, piaffe (trot on the place), and the Spanish high trot. This is an exhibition of expert precision riding on one of the finest and most beautiful show horses in America.

Changing to her second horse, a black thoroughbred which she featured on the Ringling Bros.-Barnum and Bailey Circus, she does a fast and spectacular routine of canter change of leads from every fourth to every other stride—rears—pirouettes and jumps—the jumps are a series of hurdles only four feet wide without wings and set within a forty foot circle. As a climax she does one of the most dangerous and difficult feats ever attempted by any horse trainer, commanding this horse to come to her at a full gallop and jump directly over her head.

In contrast to most high school riders Miss Steele uses no whip and all cues are imperceptible—this is the real difference between high school and dressage riding. LIFE magazine when publishing four pages of photographs of Miss Steele and her horses had this to say: "She is a superb horsewoman and the only woman in the world today known to practice the difficult and exacting art of dressage." THE NATIONAL HORSEMAN commented: "This charming young lady gives an exhibition of dressage and haute école that surpasses anything ever seen in the American horse show ring."

Marshall Wins 8-7 Over Chiefs

The Sedalia Chiefs were nosed out 8 to 7 in an exhibition game with Marshall at Liberty park, Thursday night.

Although Sedalia out-hit the visitors eight to six, six errors by the local squad contributed to the loss. With Sedalia trailing 8 to 5 going into the last of the ninth, the Chiefs staged a rally which fell one short of victory, making only two runs to lose by a single tally.

Former members of the Sedalia Junior Legion accounted for all but one of Sedalia's hits, with Holst getting three for five and Ray collecting two for four. Harris led the slugging for Marshall with three for five.

Ray and Riley pitched for Sedalia.

The score by innings:

Marshall	300 400 020—8	6	4
Sedalia	300 020 002—7	8	6

The Chiefs will meet Moberly here, Sunday night, in a game that may decide the Central Missouri Ban Johnson league championship for the second half of the season.

MOBERLY, Mo., Aug. 19—(P)—Jesse James pitched Moberly back into a first place tie with Sedalia for the Central Missouri Ban Johnson league lead here last night.

He held Jefferson City to six hits and struck out 16 as the Miners won the game, 8 to 5.

The two leaders, with 10 victories each, meet Sunday at Sedalia to decide the circuit's second half championship. The game had originally been scheduled for tonight.

American's Chance For Davis Cup Vanishes

By Bill King

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 19—(P)—America's Davis Cup hopes suffered a shocking letdown yesterday when a pick-up team of Australians, Whales, Gardnar Mulloy and Bill Talbert in the quarter finals of the National Doubles Tennis champions.

The young Australians, Frank Sedgman and George Worthington, blasted the legs from under America's defending and four-times national champions, 6-4, 1-6, 7-5, 9-7.

The Australians' surprising victory left only two American teams in the field. They play each other today.

The second seeded American team of Frank Parker of Hollywood, Calif., and Pancho Gonzales of Los Angeles, go against the sixth-seeded American combination of Jim Brink of Seattle, Wash., and Herb Behrens of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., in one of today's quarter finals.

American-British Teams Open Scotch Foursome

By Whitney Martin

MAMARONECK, N. Y., Aug. 19—(P)—There will be two non-playing captains as the British and American teams tee off today in the opening Scotch foursomes of the Walker cup competition over the Winged Foot course.

It was known that Francis Ouimet would not compete for the Americans, but the withdrawal of British leader Percy (Laddie) Lucas in favor of 19-year-old Arthur Perovine came as a distinct surprise.

Lucas, a southpaw, in announcing his team's lineup said he was off his game.

Mrs. Moselle Cameron

The Denver, Colo., marksman will defend her title at the 50th Grand American trapshooting tournament, August 19-27, at Vandalia field, Dayton, O.

Maybe The Yanks Are Getting More Breaks This Season

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Are the New York Yankees a greater club than most realize or are they just lucky?

There are two schools of thought on the subject. Undoubtedly, the Yankees are getting more than their share of breaks this season. But their backers insist that's just what makes them a great club.

The Yankees take advantage of every lapse by the opposition, they claim, and often make their own breaks.

Yank's Critics Argue

The Yanks' critics argue it doesn't take an extraordinary team to score when your opponent fumbles all over the place, presents you with free passes hits batsmen with pitched balls and allows you to take extra bases because of stupidity in the field.

Why do these lapses occur more against the Yankees than against any other club? That might be the secret of the Yankees' success. It is conceivable that the Yankees, with their constant drive and unwillingness to concede, pressure their opponents in to miscues and mental lapses.

53 Injuries

The Yankees have been winning despite 53 injuries, several to key men. They've been winning the close ones, too. In one recent week, they won four 3-2 games. They've engaged in 38 one-run decisions, and won 23 of them. No other club can boast such a mark.

Look what happened yesterday. They spotted the Washington Senators a 4-0 lead in the fourth inning, but came on to win 5-4. An error by the opposition led to the Yankees' margin.

The Yankees already had faltered twice in the last half of the fourth on Tommy Henrich's home run, a fluke double by Johnny Lindell on a pop that fell in back of first base and Gerry Coleman's single. They had two men on base and two out. Chief Mape's hit an easy roller to second, but Al Kozar bobbed it, then was slow to pick it up. Two Yankees crossed the plate to deadlock the score at 4-4.

A double by Phil Rizzuto and Mape's single off Mickey Harris in the sixth produced the winning run.

The victory increased the Yankees' first place lead over the idle Boston Red Sox to four full games.

DOVER, England, Aug. 19 — I made the bitterest decision of my life yesterday when I had to postpone my attempt at swimming the Channel for about a week.

You've no idea how heart-breaking it is to want something as much as I want to swim the Channel and not be able even to make a try. But, in the two and a half weeks I've been training both here and on the French side, that moody old Channel never gave me a chance. The weather was always bad.

Swimming the Channel requires the perfect combination of three things — luck, weather and condition. I had the condition all right — in fact, I had it too long — but I never got the weather.

As to what happens when a swimmer starts without that Big Three, notice that husky Jose Corunias, the Cuban, had to be pulled out after only a few hours. Corunias had decided to go alone. Ephan, 126, Honolulu, stopped though he got the same weather. Jackie Romero, 127, Sacramento, report we did — not very favorable.

Trainer Ted Tomme, the only man to swim both ways, agreed with our decision and cancelled swims for 2 of his charges, Philip Mickman of England and Elina Anderson of Denmark.

We kept the trans-Channel phone hot yesterday. Coach Harry Boudakian and myself were in Wissant in France, and my manager, Ted Wornier, father and our pilot, Charles Burwill were in Dover. The weather report was unfavorable but I kept urging them to get half hourly reports so we could start as soon as we got a good one.

About mid-afternoon, they called us and said that "winds of force three" were expected. That meant winds of about 15 miles an hour and since the winds affect the waves, I would have had to swim through "moderate" seas.

Best Channel swimming weather is force one or two, or winds up to 10 miles an hour with "slight" seas.

Dad ordered me to break camp in Wissant and return to Dover, which we did. I almost blubbered as I stood on the rail of the Channel ferry watching the white cliffs shining in the distance. I thought how happy I would have been if I'd only been seeing those same cliffs as I was churning through the water, swimming instead of ferrying toward England.

Why didn't I stay in Wissant to wait out the weather? Well, this is the reason given me by Dad and Coach Boudakian. They say that no one keeps at peak condition forever, and I'd held it continually from August 13th to yesterday. They were afraid that a leftown would come and, thus, when the report was unfavorable, they decided to rest me so as to avoid staleness setting in before I resumed hard training.

Semi-Pro Ball Tourney Tonite

WICHITA, Kas., Aug. 19—(P)—Semi-pro baseball's big show opens here tonight, and as usual its master-mind, Ray (Hap) Dumont, has whipped up a program aimed at keeping the turnstiles clicking.

It's the 15th annual national semi-pro tournament—a double elimination affair in which 32 teams are entered.

Dumont, president of the National Amateur Baseball Congress, said today A. B. (Happy) Chandler, high commissioner of baseball, and Joe E. Brown, stage and screen actor, will head a list of celebrities coming here to help get the tournament underway.

Brown will be honored, Dumont said, as "the man who has done the most for baseball without remuneration."

Others expected are George Sisler, former St. Louis Browns star, and now high commissioner of semi-pro baseball; Fred Clarke of Winfield, Kas., member of baseball's hall of fame who once managed the Pittsburgh Pirates; J. C. Taylor Spink, editor of Sporting News, St. Louis, and E. C. Quigley, University of Kansas athletic director.
